

Nor is it less a virtue to take care of property than to acquire it. In the latter there is chance; the former will be a work of skill.

—Ovid

The motion picture I was seeing at the Sanger bore a copyright dated 1937 — 15 years old, but with story and music and dramatic handling as fresh as today's headlines. It was Walt Disney's "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" — one of the reasons why the movies will never die.

This was Disney's first — and still his greatest — feature-length cartoon. Fifteen years later you are sure it is one of the world's immortals. Stories come in books. The books have pictures — but only in Walt Disney cartoon does the book literally come alive. In this particular form — the cartoon — motion pictures are an original art, the only thing of their kind on earth.

I found last night I had forgotten such important details as —
Dopey, the clown among dwarfs
The panic of a child lost in the dark woods

The wicked queen and the pair of virtuous who followed her, victims — and finally caught up with the queen herself.

The conviction of many Americans that federal wage and price control is a program that has been rigged for politics and not for the benefit of the people finally broke in on the thinking of congressmen yesterday — and the House of Representatives voted tentatively to scrap all controls July 31.

While this may not be the final action the resounding defeat of the Truman administration on its most cherished political issue tells the emperor of the congressmen and the people.

The nation is tired of the absurd spectacle of politicians inflating the economy with billions of government-spent dollars and at the same time proposing to fix limits on private payrolls and prices.

Many prices are below the official ceilings, unemployment is building up in Northern factories as warehouse stocks accumulate — and still the Truman administration insists on continuing the power to interfere with private economy.

It is explainable only by the traditional thirst of the office-holder for ever greater power — now the illusion is gone and the people want this federal agency liquidated and its workers turned loose for really productive jobs.

June 30, Deadline to Make Crop Insurance Reports

Farmers of Hempstead County who have crop insurance were advised this week that Monday, June 30, is the final date on which to make acreage reports and pay premiums if they want the average percent discount in the premium.

Acreage reports should be made at the county PMA office, according to Mr. Martindale, Chairman of the County PMA Committee. The report must include the acreage crops planted that are covered by insurance, the insured producer's share of the crops and the location of the crops so that they may be identified on aerial maps.

Mr. Martindale urged farmers to take advantage of the opportunity to receive the discount on their insurance premiums.

In Hempstead County there have been 204 insurance policies issued in 1952.

Yoshida Wins Confidence Vote

TOKYO (AP) — Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida today easily defeated a move to force the resignation of his cabinet.

A motion of no confidence was beaten 234 to 113.

Tokutaro Kitamura, speaking for the opposition, told the House Yoshida has permitted almost limitless and indefinite conversion of Japan into U. S. military bases.

Steel Walkout Forces Layoffs in Allied Plants

By GIB STALEY
PITTSBURGH (AP) — The great steel strike of 1952 already has cost Philip Murray's 650,000 idle steelworkers about $253 million dollars in wages.

As the strike goes into its 25th day with little sign of a break there are reports of increasing hardship from all sections of the country.

Layoffs in allied industries are increasing almost hourly.

In addition to the 650,000 striking steelworkers from coast to coast the latest survey shows that 216,320 workers in allied industries either have been laid off or ordered not to report for work after July 3.

The number of workers in allied industries already off the payroll is 166,320.

Heavy layoffs are starting in the auto industry. About 30,000 Michigan auto workers alone face immediate or early layoffs.

General Motors has expanded its layoff program to include plants at Saginaw after previously announcing thorough schedules for Flint and Detroit plants.

Ford and Chrysler say they hope to keep production going. The GM layoffs, first in the industry, will extend into the remainder of this week and next week unless there's a sudden end to the strike.

Some plants are advancing vacation schedules hoping that the strike will be settled in the meantime.

At Cleveland, General Motors Fisher Body Division has laid off 100 workers. It expects to halt production Tuesday, idling 3,200.

From city after city come similar reports of hardship cases among strikers and their families. The powerful steelworkers union does not pay strike benefits although its locals make an effort to aid so-called hardship cases.

Some 1,600 strikers in the Canton and Youngstown, O. area, where about 45,000 steelworkers are idle, have applied for relief.

At Canton, Stark County officials said any striker asking for relief must work off his food orders at the rate of 45 cents an hour. Ohio law requires this of any able-bodied person on relief.

The Chicago welfare office reports 100 families of strikers in the Chicago-Cammet-Gary area are now applying for aid daily. They are being given checks for food.

At Duquesne, Pa., a steel community of 6,500 near Pittsburgh, the City Council declared a state of emergency. Mayor Frank Kopriker sent letters to company and union officials and to President Truman urging that the mills get back in operation.

Tackett Speaks Tonight at 8 at Courthouse

Congressman Boyd Tackett from neighboring Nashville, will bring his campaign for governor to Hope tonight at 8 o'clock on the lawn of Hempstead County Courthouse.

Earlier today Mr. Tackett spoke at various points in Hempstead County.

The gubernatorial candidate will hold an "open house" at his headquarters in Little Rock Sunday, June 29, from 2 to 5 p.m.

The entire second floor of the Grady Manning Hotel will be in use, including the main ballroom. Everyone is invited to hear Mr. Tackett discuss campaign issues tonight and to the open house.

Strike Almost Certain to Extend a Week

By ROWLAND EVANS JR.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The steel strike was considered certain today to continue at least another week even if President Truman asked to the will of Congress and bowed a court to order the men back to work.

There was no firm indication, however, how the President would react to yesterday's House request — paralleling a previous one from the Senate — that he use the Taft-Hartley Labor Law to end the crippling, 24-day strike.

The walkout of about 650,000 CIO steelworkers has already cost more than six million tons of steel.

The President had a chance to tip his hand at his weekly news conference today. His last public comment on Taft-Hartley was a curt remark that Congress has no power to force its use. He also said, however, the use of the law always has been under consideration.

The law calls for a board of inquiry, appointed by the President, to look into the issues involved in a dispute and make a report to the White House. Not until that has happened — and customarily it takes at least a week — can the President ask a court to issue an order banning continuation of the strike for 60 days.

The steelworkers union, it was learned, is considering an attack on the steel industry through the same Taft-Hartley Law.

The act makes it an unfair labor practice not to bargain collectively. The act says collective bargaining is conferring "in good faith" over union demands for higher wages and other contract changes. The union questions whether the steel companies have, in fact, bargained in good faith, and gives this reason:

The union was reliably reported to have reached a tentative agreement on a new contract late last week with Bethlehem Steel, second biggest producer. The tentative accord, these reports said, was rejected by others of the six main companies in the dispute when Bethlehem asked for their approval under an agreement that all six would stick together in the long contract fight.

Stickest obstacle to settlement of the dispute, which started last November, was a union demand for the union shop, under which all employees could be compelled to join the union.

Beyond a statement by Rep. Hallett (R-Ind.) yesterday that the strike would be settled within a week, there was no apparent indication of any union shop compromise.

Hallett, refusing to elaborate on his prediction, said it came from the highest sources.

The National Production Authority, meanwhile, primed a crack-down on any steel hoarders or black marketeers. Enforcement officers were told by their chief, Robert Winn, to keep a close check on steel trade channels.

On July 19, 1951, truce talks opened at Panmunjom and UN hopes ran high for an early end to the war. But frustration followed as Communist stalling and unreasonable demands stymied negotiations from day to day for nearly a year.

Truce talks resulted in ground fighting deteriorating into desultory skirmishes and patrol actions. But cost of war for UN mounted as casualties neared 110,000 and vitally needed planes and other materiel were used up.

Month - Long Siege of Hot, Dry Weather Has Farmers Casting Uneasy Eye Toward the Sky

By HAROLD HART

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The average farmer in Arkansas is keeping one eye on the skies these days. He needs rain for most of his crops.

A month-long siege of hot, dry weather apparently has all right for cotton, rice, soybeans and a few other crops. But most commodities such as corn, hay, sorghum, sorghum and vegetables, are being hurt. Rain is urgently needed to forestall severe damage.

After a couple of weeks of the dry weather and no letup in sight, the tomato harvest was rushed up to avoid heavy losses.

The tomato shed at Warren was opened recently in anticipation of handling some 25 carloads per day. The five tomato sheds in Hermiteage are in full swing. Approximately 3,000 baskets of pink tomatoes went through the five sheds on one recent day, at an average of $4.40 per basket.

Cotton, says the Agricultural Extension Service, thrived on the hot weather, enabling it to recover from the effects of cool weather, lice and thrips. But now that seedling diseases have almost disappeared, even the cotton needs rain.

Peach picking has started and the fruit is of good quality but will soon need rain for adequate sizing.

Speaking of the weather: The National Cotton Council has announced the opening of a Belt-wide campaign to impress upon cotton farmers how valuable weather services can be. The NCC explains that up-to-the-minute information on probable weather conditions is particularly helpful to cotton farmers who are concerned with fertilization, chemical weed control, cotton insect control and defoliation.

If you're thinking of getting free cotton classing and market news service on the 1952 cotton crop you had better hurry. Robert H. Sloan, cotton specialist for the State Agricultural Extension Service, says deadline for applying for the service is July 1.

How are you handling your pastures? Government agriculturists say now is the time for farmers to apply good pasture management practices to receive the maximum value from pastures and livestock.

Pastures should not be overgrazed, they say, and will need to be mowed or clipped at least twice during the summer to control weeds and bushes.

Youngsters to Get Chance to Play Baseball

Edell Nix has issued a call for all Hope youngsters ages 9 up to join a baseball team now in process of being organized at Fair park.

Nix, coach of the Junior American Legion team, announced that groups would be organized Friday and beginning next week will meet daily. The first week will be devoted to fundamentals of baseball and thereafter regular games will be played.

Junior boys are asked to meet daily from 8:30 to 11 a.m. Buddy League boys, ages 13-15, will workout from 1 to 3 p.m.

Little League boys, ages 9-12, are asked to meet from 3 to 5 p.m.

Mississippi Rights Group Picks Russell

JACKSON, Miss. (UP) — Mississippi's State's Rights group today elected a delegate state endorsing Sen. Richard B. Russell today and to plot a second party revolt if the Democrats snub their platform demands.

Although not formally pledged the delegates promised to support the Georgia senator "to the end. But the state convention planned to bolt if the national convention ignores their stand on "civil rights" issue.

The convention, carefully timed to provide little chance for discussion or dispute, opened at the Municipal Auditorium.

Gov. Hugh White was to make the keynote address at 1 p.m. EST.

Strongly-worded resolutions left no doubt differences with the national party over platform issues have not healed since White signaled the "Dixiecrat" revolt of 1948 by marching off the convention floor at Philadelphia.

The resolutions restated the "unalterable" opposition of the States' Rights to the FEPC and any anti-lynch or poll tax repeal legislation — all involving racial matters.

The handpicked 48 delegates and alternates had been nominated last week at district caucuses held throughout the state. Each gave party leaders his word he would support Russell "to the end."

A part of the strategy consisted of recessing the convention instead of adjourning before presidential electors are chosen, so the delegates can return here to name "independent candidates" if dissatisfied at Chicago.

The caucuses had picked former Gov. Fielding Wright, the States' Rights vice-presidential candidate of 1948, and Mrs. Herman Gautier, rejected by the regular party, as national committeeman and committeewoman.

Although a "loyalist" faction planned to send a rival slate to the national convention the states' rights were confident their delegates would be seated. Mississippi has 18 votes.

Hopes were buoyed by the national party's recent recognition of State Attorney-General J. P. Coleman as acting national committeeman, although the credentials committee must decide which delegation to seat after the convention opens.

The States' Rights soft-pedaled their differences with the national party except for their resolutions concerning platform matters, although leaders of the 1948 insurgency were still prominently in view.

The caucuses also had picked Sens. John Stennis and James Eastland (D-Miss.); Reps. Frank Smith, Colmer, L. Gov. Carroll Gartin, State House Speaker Waller, Silvers, State Party Chairman T. J. Tubb, and party organizer W. W. Wright.

Group Calls for Big Slash in Appropriations

KXAR to Carry Guards Program on Saturday

Haskell Jones, KXAR's Program director, announced today that a special program will be heard Saturday morning National Guard recruiting in the Hope area.

An "on the scene" program was recorded last Tuesday night for broadcast Saturday, 1st Lt. Ernest A. Porter, Commanding Officer, M-Sgt. Charles B. Ward, and other officers and non-commissioned officers will be heard.

The program is of special interest to young men who are 17 to 18 years of age, who live in or near Hope, as it explains the advantages of being a guardsman, from the men themselves. All Guardsmen of Co. "A" are proud of the fact that they are "Keeping their Guard Up."

British Arrest A Russian Diplomat

LONDON (UP) — British agents arrested and released a Russian diplomat accused of receiving secret information from a British foreign office radio operator, it was revealed today.

Prosecutor J. Buss said at the third hearing for William Marti Marshall, young radio operator accused of giving Britain's secrets to Russia, that Pavel Kuznetsov, second secretary at the London Soviet embassy had been arrested with Marshall June 13.

However, as soon as Kuznetsov produced credentials showing he had diplomatic immunity, he was released.

Marshall was arrested while in Kuznetsov's company in a south-west London Park. The 24-year-old radio operator is charged with betraying "dangerous" information to Russia.

Buss said Kuznetsov was searched by Scotland Yard special branch agents who found 25 pounds ($70.00) on him.

The Soviet embassy said Kuznetsov still was in London. The British Foreign Office has indicated it will demand Kuznetsov's recall — if the charges against Marshall are proved in court.

Buss today asked Magistrate T. Clyde Wilson to commit Marshall for trial. The prosecutor presented his case and then the tiny courtroom was cleared, while four witnesses gave evidence.

Buss said today he wished to proceed on the four charges he presented last week at Marshall's second hearing. When first arrested, the pale thin young operator was charged with communicating valuable information to an enemy.

Under the charges made last week Marshall, who worked at the British embassy in Moscow for one year, was accused of giving Kuznetsov information at three separate meetings.

The fourth charge was that Marshall had with him when arrested June 3 a "dangerous" document. The British authorities recovered the paper, but its contents are known to Marshall and possibly Kuznetsov.

Buss said a diary found on Marshall gave the dates of his meetings with the Soviet diplomat. The prosecutor introduced a long statement allegedly made by Marshall to police. Shortly after his arrest Marshall told police he denied the charges against him.

In the statement Marshall allegedly said of his work at the British Embassy in Moscow: "I was a misfit at the embassy from the start. The people there were not my class of people and I led a solitary life. In Moscow, due to my apathy, I did nothing to help the Russians."

No Department Escapes in 25% Reduction

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Appropriations Committee recommended today a 25 per cent cut in new funds asked by the administration for the armed forces, foreign aid, atomic energy and a variety of other purposes.

In terms of cash, the purse-holding group's proposed reduction — which comes up for House action tomorrow and will be considered by the Senate later — was $4,407,688,250.

The committee, headed by Rep. Cannon (D-Mo), said the agencies involved could get along on $10,253,133,700 instead of the $14,750,888,250 President Truman asked.

The money provided in today's bill is separate from regular budget appropriations already considered by Congress for the Defense Department and the Atomic Energy Commission. Their regular budgets, much larger, have been reduced already.

The new funds supplement appropriations already considered for the coming year or actually made for the present year, and are primarily for construction programs.

No big agencies were spared the committee's cuts. The largest was a $1,708,000 reduction in funds for the Atomic Energy Commission. This was 53 per cent less than the $3,191,000 requested.

The foreign aid program was chopped by $20,120,000 from $6,520,000,750 to $6,500,000,750.

The Defense Department, which wanted $2,093,808,440 for its construction programs was allotted $2,167,899,840 a cut of $605,088,900.

A group of defense agencies was trimmed from $601,610,000 to $481,000,000 a reduction of $120,610,000 with $562,600,000 of the total cut aimed at the Civil Defense Administration.

The Economic Stabilization Agency (ESA) got nothing, the committee saying it would consider ESA funds when Congress decides what to do about wage, price and rent controls. The agency wanted $103,250,000.

The Commerce and Interior Departments got what they requested: $718,530 for Commerce and $228,000 for Interior. The extra budget of $132,200 for Congress itself was approved in full.

The Labor Department was cut from $18,870,000 to $9,800,000, most of the cut being in funds for grants to states for unemployment compensation and employment services administration.

The Federal Security Agency was slashed from $110,710,460 to $10,537,750, the committee rejecting among other things the entire $9 million requested for school construction.

The $250,120,000 cut made by the committee in foreign aid funds was considerably less than some had expected. Earlier Congress shaved by $12 billion the President's request to authorize a $7,000,000,000 aid program.

Approximately 200 million dollars of the total reduction in the foreign aid request was in funds for military assistance.

The committee said its cut of about 200 million dollars in military assistance program would not "in the slightest degree" interfere with the orderly scheduling of deliveries for the program.

The committee made an indirect plea for Congress not to make further cuts in funds for economic aid abroad. The money for the purpose is for "defense support" aid explained, and results in increased arms output abroad. Further cuts "it felt" would be "sighted."

Markets

STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK (UP) — Led by specialties, stocks edged upward early today in moderately active dealings.

The modest improvement in prices moved the industrial average to its best level since last Feb. 2. Railroad prices now reach back to March 24, 1931.

Railroad shares, which moved upward fractionally at the opening, met some realizing just before noon. Santa Fe fell 2 points despite an increase in its dividend to $1.25 a share from $1.00.

Street quarters expected to be better. Other carriers moved irregularly.

Automotive shares firmed with Chrysler the leader with a gain of 1/4 to 3 1/4. Steel shares also moved upward.

Barksdale Work Contracts Let

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Award of three contracts for construction at Barksdale Air Force Base, Shreveport, La., was announced today by Col. Hans W. Holmer, Little Rock district engineer.

S. & L. Construction Co., Dallas, was awarded a contract for construction of seven airman's dormitories and two mess and administrative buildings at the bid price of $1,618,308.

Contract for construction of an electrical distribution system, substations, services and street lighting was awarded to Industrial Electric and Supply Co., Inc., Memphis, on a bid of $74,485.

Cahn Electric Co., Inc., Shreveport, on a bid of $18,912 plus $503 for a proposed change order for additional work, received a contract to erect a primary line for the electrical system.

Nagging backache, loss of back energy, backache and stiffness may be due to poor posture. When you are sitting, such as at a desk or in a chair, you may be sitting up like a soldier. This may cause backache. The correct posture is to sit with the feet flat on the floor, the knees at right angles to the hips, and the back straight. This will keep the spine in its natural curve and prevent backache.

The West, Like All Other U. S. Sections, Want Something Done About the Korean War
By HAL BOYLE
DENVER (AP) Travel notes from a cartoonist philosopher's diary: The American West today is more sensitive to and more interested in the Korean situation than any other section of the nation. "What can we do about it?" the people ask.
They have no pat answers to it. They want it solved. But they are tired of the cut-and-dried approach to the problem.
A lot of sons from this area have fought in Korea, many are still there. The Western people accept the sacrifice of military service as a national duty more readily, one feels passing through, than some other parts of America do.
But if either the Republican or the Democratic party in the State Department has a fresh avenue of solution to the stalemate with the Chinese Reds, it is most likely of acceptance here.
Folks are just tired of the dead back. A new shuffle of the cards on a common sense basis would be welcomed.

NEW YORK (AP) — The glorious career of Sugar Ray Robinson may have come to an end in the first round of the fight between Robinson and Light Heavyweight Champion Joey Maxim and a third round for his glowing crown.
Steaming 100-degree heat melted the last flesh off the lean middleweight king and burned out his resistance after 13 rounds of a valiant, winning effort. He collapsed and the victory went to Maxim.
"Ray was going to call it quits if he won decisively," said Jimmy Clark, a longtime friend of Ray. "Now this could be it too, I guess."
Robinson had been bidding to become the third fighter ever to win three championships and join Bob Fitzsimmons and Hammerin' Henry Armstrong in the ultra-elite of the ring.
There was many an expert who felt that he had seen the last of the great Sugar Man.
The bout will go down in the books as a 14th round technical knockout for Joey — the bell had sounded to start the 14th — but everyone in the wild crowd of 47,000 (gross gate $421,000) will credit the TKO to the steambox that was Yankee Stadium last night.
Ray wouldn't and couldn't talk to the press after he was helped to his dressing room. He had just suffered the first knockout—technical though it was—of his 11½ years of pro boxing. It was only his third defeat in 137 bouts, but two of them have come in less than a year. The last to Rudy Turpin last July 10.
"Robinson is mentally as well as physically exhausted," said Dr. Ira McCown, State Athletic Commission physician and one of the first to leave Sugar's dressing room. "He's speaking unintelligibly. He appears to be out in left field."
The middleweight champion who started out weighing 157½, to Maxim's 173, left the ball park with his bathrobe wrapped around him.
Through the first 11 rounds, Ray, as graceful as a ballet dancer, moved in and out and sideways on his taller foe. He shot jabs to the head and body, rattled him with flashing combinations to the head and body, and staggered him in the seventh and eighth rounds with smashing left hooks.
The best Maxim could do on his darting rival was to dig those shorties to the body in the clinches. He landed occasional left hooks to the head and a rare right without much steam.
In the 12th, two rounds after Referee Rudy Goldstein became all from the oppressive heat and was replaced by Ray Miller, Robinson appeared to wobble as he retreated from Maxim, now the stalker.

"Robinson is mentally as well as physically exhausted," said Dr. Ira McCown, State Athletic Commission physician and one of the first to leave Sugar's dressing room. "He's speaking unintelligibly. He appears to be out in left field."
The middleweight champion who started out weighing 157½, to Maxim's 173, left the ball park with his bathrobe wrapped around him.
Through the first 11 rounds, Ray, as graceful as a ballet dancer, moved in and out and sideways on his taller foe. He shot jabs to the head and body, rattled him with flashing combinations to the head and body, and staggered him in the seventh and eighth rounds with smashing left hooks.
The best Maxim could do on his darting rival was to dig those shorties to the body in the clinches. He landed occasional left hooks to the head and a rare right without much steam.
In the 12th, two rounds after Referee Rudy Goldstein became all from the oppressive heat and was replaced by Ray Miller, Robinson appeared to wobble as he retreated from Maxim, now the stalker.

Youths Sought in Miami Slaying
MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Police combed this city today for two youths who shot a late-working physician to death in an attempt to rob his clinic last night and fled on foot, forgetting to take the victim's wallet.
The men dashed past a laboratory technician identified only as "Joyce" into the office of Dr. Clayton Springmyer, engaged in a brief tussle with the 40-year-old man and killed him with two shots in the chest.
The technician ran from the building to telephone police from a safer spot. Nearby residents heard the shots and saw the men run from the building.
The woman said she overheard one of the men order Springmyer, a naturopath, to "get in that chair and stay there. This is a stickup." But his well-filled wallet was left on the desk beside the body, detectives said.
Springmyer set up practice here after moving from Ohio following service in World War II. Two years ago his wife sued him for divorce on grounds that he worked "practically every waking moment."

DOROTHY DIX

Age Makes No Difference

Dear Dorothy Dix: About two years ago, at the age of 35, I met a man of 52 and we became quite friendly. After a while he spoke of marriage, but talked of often about a woman with whom he had lived. I felt he was attracted to me on the rebound, as this woman had married someone else. Later, in extending an invitation to my sister, he gave her to understand that his intentions toward me were quite serious. However, he seemed to cool in this attitude considerably, and a few weeks ago told me quite clearly that he had no matrimonial intentions whatsoever.

I asked him to stop calling me as I didn't want to see him again. However, I did relent and we went on a date. He went right back to his first topic of conversation and began discussing women he had been out with since I had last seen him. I was so disgusted I definitely broke off with him.

Now I have met a man who is the soul of kindness and integrity. However, I can't get over my mistrust of men caused by the other friend's treatment. If a man of 52 can be so ignorant of common decency, what will a man of 40 be like?

Answer: Your man of 32 is an old rogue whose only ambition is collecting women's hearts as though they were trophies to be bragged about. He was probably the same at 42 and 22. Age has nothing to do with his character.

New Beau Different

Your 40-year-old beau is of entirely different calibre. He acquires friends as a result of his own consideration and honesty; to him they are something to treasure. He is a sound person, of good character and judgment. Don't let your fancied mistrust of men lure you into losing a fine friend. You aren't really disillusioned; your feeling is the result of creating too much drama around a situation. Here, of course, your family's attitude is assuming so strong that you were marrying the man, added considerable tension to the whole affair. Forget the past and in the light of a pleasant present, anticipate a happy future with a fine man.

Dear Miss Dix: Four years ago I met a boy I liked very much, but did not love. We went together as friends for a long time, then he said he loved me but I admitted I couldn't return the feeling. About a year later he announced that he was moving to a distant state, but still insisted he loved and wanted to marry me. Then I heard of his marriage. This marriage lasted only two months, then he came back here and said he still loved me. Now I know that I love him, and would gladly marry him. My father doesn't approve of our friendship, under the circumstances, and wants me to break off with him. What can I do?

Answer: Your emotions are extremely unstable. You decided you loved this young man simply because someone else came into possession. He should make a strong effort to turn his marriage into a success, and you shouldn't try to discourage him. Let him go back to his wife and see if they can't make something out of this mess that is largely due to your own procrastinating indecision.

Dear Miss Dix: I am 16, and have been going with a boy a year older. He is a fine boy and we get along very well together. We also get along with each other's families, except for his younger brother, Van. Van has been telephoning me quite often asking for a date, and nothing I say seems to discourage him. How can I stop this annoyance?

KATHRYN J.
Answer: Don't try to handle this persistent younger brother by yourself. Tell his brother and let him take a hand in the solution. Or, you could ask your mother to tell the young pest, when he calls, that you aren't interested in talking to him. A word from an outsider will do wonders with him.

Dear Miss Dix: I am a girl of 13, very fond of a certain boy two years older. Whenever I'm with him he talks about his other girl friends, and I don't like it. I know he's trying to make me jealous, but I'm getting tired of it. How can I tell him I don't want to see him any more without breaking his heart?

ETTA R.H.
Answer: My dear child, hearts don't break at the age of 13 so you're quite safe in telling the boy that you prefer not to see him again. You have been much too serious over him, anyway, for your age. Adolescents are sometimes woefully short on conversational material and discussion of other girls may be this boy's only topic.

Truck Carrying Meat Catches Fire Twice

PARIS, Ark. (UP) — A refrigerator transport truck, carrying a $18,000 cargo of pork, caught fire twice near here today. It was not known immediately how much of the meat was damaged.

Firemen said the truck, operated by Western Refrigerator Line, Oklahoma City, caught fire the first time about 6 a. m. while the driver was changing a tire. About three miles west of Paris, the truck was hit again.

Mexican Admits Brutal Slaying

ST. LOUIS (UP) — A 23-year-old Mexican has admitted the brutal slaying of Mrs. Irene Thompson, an attractive 32-year-old mother.

Police Capt. John Buck reported last night Jose Romero had signed a statement saying he strangled Mrs. Thompson and left her partially nude body in a room at the Jefferson Hotel.

Mrs. Thompson's body, clad only in panties, was found in the room Sunday. Her throat had been slashed with a broken bottle and an electric cord had been twisted around her neck.

Romero told of having been in a fight with another man over Mrs. Thompson last Friday and then visiting her hotel room later that night. He said she had screamed insults at him and lunged toward him with a desk pen.

Romero met Mrs. Thompson, mother of a 2-year-old daughter, at a dancing studio where she was employed as an instructor. He surrendered to police yesterday on a warrant charging him with the slaying.

Full-Scale Liquor Probe Is Sought

By CHARLES F. BARR
WASHINGTON, (UP)—The Justice Department today called for a full-scale probe of the liquor industry, charging that one of the nation's most powerful drunk liquor industry groups, the National Liquor Manufacturers Association (NLMA), is engaged in a "vast conspiracy" to control the industry.

The NLMA, which has 100 members, is a powerful lobby group that has been active in opposing federal liquor laws. It has been successful in getting many of its members' products exempted from federal control.

The Justice Department is now conducting an investigation into the NLMA's activities. It is looking for evidence of a "vast conspiracy" to control the industry. The department is also looking for evidence of "monopolistic practices."

The NLMA's activities have been a major concern of the Justice Department for some time. The department has been conducting an investigation into the NLMA's activities since 1949. It has been looking for evidence of a "vast conspiracy" to control the industry.

Battle Casualties Increase 640

WASHINGTON, (UP)—Announced U. S. battle casualties in Korea increased 640 last week to a total of 110,011, reflecting the heavier fighting, the Defense Department said today.

The increase for the week was the largest since Feb. 7, 1951, when casualties jumped 883 in one week.

The summary included casualties whose next of kin have been notified from the beginning of the war through last Friday. One to three weeks are normally required to notify next of kin.

The summary showed 10,409 dead, 5,847 wounded, 9,531 missing, 1,209 captured, 1,365 previously listed as missing but returned to service.

The dead included those killed in action, those who died of wounds and those previously reported missing and later found dead.

HE'S ALWAYS HER "DOG OF THE YEAR"—Linda Humble, 2, of Pennsauken, N. J., poses with "Skippy," who has been given the National Dog Welfare Guild's R. P. Lester Dog Hero Award. Skippy, a three-year-old Belgian shepherd, saved the child from a would-be kidnaper.

Important Data on the Conventions

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON, (UP)—Here are the answers to a couple of questions about the political conventions, held this year in Chicago. The Republicans open theirs July 7. The Democrats follow July 21.

1. Why do the Democrats hold their convention after the Republicans finish theirs?

Answer: Just habit. There's no rule. But it's been happening that way, with two exceptions, for almost 100 years.

2. Why do the parties pick the same city the last three times. But most of their conventions before 1904 were held in different cities.

From now on, though, they'll probably always meet in the same city and the same convention hall. This is why:

The expense and problems involved in the news, radio and TV coverage are becoming so huge and complex it's best all around to meet in the same place.

The two Chicago conventions this year will be in the same hall. The Democrats and Republicans worked hand-in-glove making the arrangements.

It's saved them time, money and trouble. After the convention they can return to their usual occupation. Choosing the convention city is done by the national committees of both parties a half year or more before the conventions open.

Actually, subcommittees of the big committees have been scouting around long before that. They keep these main points in mind:

1. Location. They usually pick a place most centrally located for all the delegates. It's no accident the two parties have met most often in Chicago.

2. Facilities. This covers a lot of ground: hotel space, enough room in the convention hall itself to get the work done, from now on probably only a hall with air-conditioning will be selected, for the Chicago convention will be air-conditioned this year, and ample arrangements for the news, radio and TV people.

It's been estimated at least 2,000 news, radio and TV men and women will cover this year's convention.

3. How much money a city is willing to kick in to get itself picked for the convention.

Chicago will give $250,000 each to the two parties this year to help cover their expenses. The city hopes to get the money back in business, prestige and publicity.

Grand Jury to Look Into 'Tip'

WASHINGTON, (UP)—The Justice Department said today a federal grand jury at Seattle, Wash., will immediately inquire into a "tip" that Owen Lattimore planned to leave this country for a destination beyond Communism's Iron Curtain.

Lattimore, Johns Hopkins University professor and far eastern expert, has denied any such plan.

On the basis of the tip, the State Department had ordered customs officials to prevent Lattimore's departure, if he attempted to leave the country. The State Department has been investigating the tip in a check on its validity.

Lattimore has been a principal target on Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) and has repeatedly denied the senator's accusations that he has served the cause of Communism.

Attorney General McGranery's office disclosed, in response to an inquiry, that one of McGranery's special assistants, Joseph A. Low-ther, has gone to Seattle for the grand jury sessions. The hearings are scheduled to start Friday morning.

Lower, an attorney in the criminal division, will work with Seattle District Attorney J. Charles Dennis in probing the case.

It is estimated that the average temperature of the surface of Mars is about 22 degrees below zero Fahrenheit.

SLEEPY OX

NANAIMBO, B. C. (UP)—Base ball fan James Thomas paid a $12.50 fine for drunkenness after taking a nap hanging head down over a 45-foot cliff.

Thomas fell asleep on a hill while overlooking the ballpark and rolled down to a ledge, where he remained half-suspended. A police officer grabbed him by the belt and pulled him to safety.

Dutch Cabinet Resigns After Public Vote

AMSTERDAM, The Netherlands (UP)—The Dutch Cabinet submitted its resignation today to Queen Juliana as 5,700,000 of her 10 million subjects voted for a new lower house of Parliament.

As is customary, the Queen requested Laborite Premier Willem Drees and his middle-of-the-road coalition of Catholic party and Labor ministers to remain in office until the election results permit formation of a new Cabinet.

With voting compulsories all men and women over 23, there was a rush to the polls, but the balloting went forward calmly. Most voters feel that international requirements and agreements will control the decisions of whatever government is in power, and the campaign has been exceptionally dull.

A total of 100 lower house seats are to be filled. First scattered returns are expected early tonight. Decisive trends probably will be known early tomorrow. The Catholics are expected to hold their place as Parliament's largest party. Party leader Carl P. M. Roemer is being mentioned as a possible choice for Premier.

Tomorrow the provincial legislatures, sitting as electoral colleges, will choose the 50 members of a new First Chamber (Senate).

Shots Could Prevent Polio for Six Weeks

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE

Associated Press Science Reporter

NEW YORK (AP)—The best immediate hope of preventing paralysis from polio is the gamma globulin (G.G.) shots being tested this summer.

But even if G.G. works, it won't supply the final answer against polio.

For it is not a vaccine, which could give permanent protection. The G.G. shots would protect children for perhaps only three to six weeks. The shots might have to be repeated several times a summer.

But G.G.—if it works—probably could become a fireman to put out polio epidemics, and limit their spread. That would mean practical control to avoid many cases of paralysis.

The reasons for the limitations of G.G. lie in some facts about immunization.

When disease germs invade us, our bodies start making antibodies. Antibodies are specific protein agents which combine with the invading germ and make it harmless.

In most diseases, once we have made our own antibodies, we are permanently protected. Our antibody factories keep on producing, or at least are ready for quick action if that germ comes along again.

This is known as active immunization. Vaccines also do this job.

A vaccine is made up of germs that cause a disease. The germs first are killed or weakened so they can't cause sickness. But the germs still can stimulate us to make antibodies against them. The antibody protection aroused this way is long-lasting, or even sometimes permanent.

The G.G. shots would be passive immunization, which works quite differently.

With the G.G., you would be getting antibodies made by another source, not your own. Your own body would not keep these donated antibodies for very long. You would not set up the factories to make your own antibodies, unless there was enough virus to make your own body go into action.

The donated G.G. antibodies apparently would last only three to six weeks. Then another protective dose could be given, if the polio epidemic was still on.

Most of us already have had slight and probably unnoticed cases of polio. We produced antibodies against the virus.

Our antibodies are carried by one protein in our blood—the gamma globulin or G.G. The G.G. for these tests is being supplied from Red Cross-donated blood.

In monkeys, polio virus goes into the blood before it strikes the nerves. While the virus is in the blood, it can be made harmless by shots of G.G. The human tests are designed to learn if polio virus acts the same in humans, and can be stopped by G.G. before it causes paralysis.

If effective at all, the G.G. would protect children only if they got the shots before the virus entered their bodies, or a few days after the virus had already come in. It takes a few days to a few weeks for the virus to incubate and start invading once it has been swallowed.

It would be impossible to give G.G. repeatedly to all children and adults in the nation. The G.G. has to come—right now at least—from human blood, and there simply would not be enough unless all Americans donated vast quantities of blood.

G.G.'s main use would be in areas where polio broke out. Then it could be used to protect a town's children, and to keep the disease from spreading. Polio apparently spreads by intimate human contact.

Tests probably can be devised to show which of us already have our own antibodies and protection against polio. Then G.G. could be given just to those who lack antibodies, thus making the supply go farther.

The most complete preventative would be a vaccine. One vaccination might give permanent protection.

Vaccines already have been used successfully on monkeys. We don't yet have a vaccine for humans, but the outlook is getting bright.

First of all, March of Dimes research has shown there are only three types of polio virus which cause disease in humans. The vaccine would have to consist of all three.

Large supplies of artificially grown virus would be needed, but scientists have found that they can grow the virus on tissues other than brains or nerves. This raises prospects of finding good methods of cultivating enough virus to make a lot of vaccine.

The virus then could be killed, or weakened sufficiently to make a perfectly safe, efficient vaccine, using all three types of virus.

Work is going forward on all of these problems.

One encouraging fact came from the monkey experiments using G.G. It was found that only a small amount of G.G. antibody is needed to neutralize the polio virus while it is in the bloodstream.

This means that a vaccine does not have to be as potent as scientists first had thought. Apparently we need to make only a little bit of antibodies. The weak vaccine to do this would be easier to make, and it would be safer.

Citizens Urged to Help Texas Fight Polio

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Health authorities pleaded with citizens to fight back polio today as the worst polio epidemic in Texas history swept the state.

Latest figures from the U. S. Public Health Service showed the crippling disease has hit Texas harder than any other state in the nation.

The toll from polio in Texas has mounted steadily as summer weather took its annual toll on the state.

The State Health Department announced yesterday that 161 cases of polio were reported last week. The week before 103 cases had been reported.

Both were grim new all-time records.

Last week's toll was larger than that of any seven-day period in 1950, the year a record polio epidemic struck down 2,778 Texans.

During the week of that epidemic year, the number of reported cases exceeded 131.

Meanwhile, seventeen new cases of poliomyelitis were reported yesterday at Houston. It was the seventh single day for polio deaths, all adults.

Dr. George W. Cox, state health director, said a total of 617 cases of poliomyelitis have been reported so far this year, compared with 624 for the entire year of 1950.

Cox earlier had estimated that only one of every 100 actual cases of polio is reported to him. That gives 59 persons, he said, suffering from the disease without diagnosis.

The health director personally visited Houston today yesterday to help in the battle against polio.

The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis also rushed special equipment to Houston and sent an epidemic co-ordinator, Dr. F. M. McGilchrist.

Visiting Around Arkansas BY JOE MARSH

"Diamonds In Your Own Backyard..."

They've never discovered gold in them their Arkansas hills... but the old Wonder State can boast of the only diamond mines on the North American continent.

Folks down in Pike County tell me these diamonds are actually two points harder than the Kimberly diamonds of South Africa.

In this age of precision tools, the Arkansas diamond has risen to the top of the heap industrially. It's just another Arkansas "first" in our system and scheme of progress and life.

Like Arkansas citizens who are proud of this "first" in the nation's progress, the miners of America are also proud that their many distributors and retailers are operating under a Self-Regulation Program which assures the public of a fine product in a clean, wholesome and law-abiding establishment.

Woman Faces 5 to 10 Years in Big Theft

By ED OLSEN

CAROL CITY, Tex. (AP)—The French Canadian divorcee who pleaded that to make a bedroom burglar with a diamond for Vera Redfield to steal his 12 million dollar safe today faced five to 10 years in prison for directing that fantastic burglary.

A Federal Court jury yesterday found Mrs. Jeanne L. McMichael, 36, guilty of carrying more than $147,000 of the loot across state lines.

The jury rejected the plea that the woman's contention that she gained Redfield's consent to the theft in a bedroom tryst in the millionaire's posh home mansion Dec. 23.

A special homicide watch was put over her. She previously attempted suicide and said on the witness stand:

"It is preferable to this shame of bringing out my private life as La Vera Redfield's sweetheart."

Redfield denied in court he consented to the theft, but was so hesitant and evasive that Federal Judge Roger Foley's lawyer barred at the blue-faced defendant.

An amazing new turn into a case that will go down in FBI files as one of the strangest in history came yesterday with this revelation: Redfield still has 270,000 dollars cached in a secret basement room of his field alone residence.

The 270,000 cash, which weighed almost 10 tons, was discovered by FBI agents, acting upon coded instructions found in a note taken from Mrs. McMichael upon her arrest.

The note, with a will and other personal papers, was among the currency, jewelry and securities hidden into the millionaire's small bedroom safe when it was carried away Feb. 23.

FBI men, charged through 30 inches of plaster, bone and concrete to find the secret room, which also contained a vast quantity of postage stamps.

Mrs. McMichael, who will be sentenced June 30, freely admitted understanding the cash burglary. Four men involved in the burglary are under arrest.
